MEDITERRANEAN ENCHANTMENT

Indulge your senses in the Mediterranean, home to rustic islands, revered cities and some of the world's most picturesque stretches of coastline.

IMMERSE IN EVEN MORE

Read on and discover why the Mediterranean gets explored time and time again. Boasting over 3,000 islands and wrapped in ancient history, this region will never fail to draw you. Our Editor's highlights will tell you more...

ENJOY A DAZZLING DIVERSITY

Nothing enlivens the spirit like variety. And in the Mediterranean, a bounty of new sights, sounds and landscapes create a vibrant backdrop for your escape. On just one journey you could be exploring Minoan history at the Palace of Knossos one day, strolling the marble streets of the ancient site of Ephesus the next and soaking up the buzz of Istanbul the day after. When combined with relaxed moments on board, lounging on your private balcony and watching the sun set over another beautiful skyline, every day feels gloriously eventful yet indulgent.

SAVOUR SUNSHINE FLAVOURS

The Mediterranean is a foodie's delight. From Naples's passion for pizza to Greece's affection for the humble salad, bursting with colour, juicy olives and moreish feta, simple ingredients are elevated to new heights of delectability. Beautiful views enhance our perception of food, and perhaps this is why dining in the Mediterranean rarely disappoints, deftly combining sunshine flavours and beautiful locations. Whether savouring fresh oysters plucked from the pristine waters of the Dalmatian coast or enjoying a bowl of fresh pasta in Rome, each dish and setting will linger in your memory long after the last few mouthfuls have been devoured.

UNCOVER ARTISTRY AT EVERY TURN

From the faded frescoes of Rome to the intricate mosaics of ancient Greece, the Mediterranean offers a window into the craftsmanship and artistry of the past. Moorish palaces, Byzantine churches, spectacular mosques and towering cathedrals invite you to look up, whilst a wealth of museums and galleries fire your imagination with a cacophony of concepts and colours. From gazing at the works of the Grand Masters to getting creative yourself as you try to frame the blue-domed churches of Santorini, or the red roofs of Dubrovnik for the perfect picture, fresh inspiration is never far away.

Lose yourself in the brilliant colours and lovely scents of the Kasbah's Andalusian Gardens. Stroll past souks and artisan shops in Casablanca's Habous Quarter, browsing items ranging from olives to handicrafts.

THE TREASURES OF NORTHERN EUROPE

With tranquil fjords, medieval towns and a healthy appreciation for folklore and nature's power, the cities and landscapes of Northern Europe are certain to enthrall you.

IMMERSE IN EVEN MORE

Read further how the romanticism of Northern Europe offers so much more than Gothic steeples and meandering fjords. Delve a little deeper with our Editor's take on this incredible region.

NATURE'S CURIOSITIES

From Iceland's geothermal wonders to Estonia's and Finland's beautiful national parks which teem with wildlife, lovers of the great outdoors will be in their element. There's a sense that the landscapes and nature are deeply entwined with the region's culture, with whispered legends of trolls, giants and elves injecting an extra touch of whimsy. Admire glistening fjords and soaring eagles, explore verdant forests and venture along mountain trails for awe-inspiring views, the sight of hillsides peppered with traditional wooden houses and streams culminating in majestic waterfalls. Kayaking, hiking, cycling and white-water rafting excursions are all great ways to immerse yourself in the landscape.

LOFOTEN ISLANDS, NORWAY

COBBLED TOWNS AND ISLAND CITIES

The usual rules of human inhabitation do not apply here. Stockholm and Helsinki are scattered across islands like a handful of confetti thrown to the wind, Oslo lies secreted at the end of a 95 kilometre fjord, and locals live nonchalantly in medieval old towns which look like they belong in a storybook. Step out in Tallinn's Old Town and you will find hidden alleys, pretty squares, stone towers and the resplendent onion-domed Alexander Nevsky Cathedral. It's a region where history and charm seem to ooze from every street and spire. From Helsinki's 18th-century citadel which straddles several islands to Torshavn's beguiling turf-roofed old town, every new place offers surprising new sights and discoveries.

COFFEE, CAKE AND THE DAY'S CATCH

Coffee and cake has a special place in Nordic culture, so much so that the locals have coined a one-word phrase to sum it up. In Sweden, fika refers to the national obsession with coffee and a pastry, while in Greenland Kaffemik is an important tradition which describes a celebratory social gathering 'via coffee'. As some of the world's most enthusiastic coffee drinkers, you should find a ready supply to give you a welcome boost as you explore. Of course, when it comes to something more substantial, there is a smorgasbord of hearty dishes to sample, including cepelinai (Lithuanian potato dumplings), Swedish meatballs, cured salmon and plokkifiskur (Icelandic fish stew).
